ter, in the far West, electrified the continent, and thousands journeyed hundreds of miles just for the touch of his hand. Rising above all these men, with a record of cures extending over a quarter of a century of success, Professor S. J. Damon stands pre-emigently the greatest healer of all, and be points with conscious pride to the record he and his associates made last Fall at the Masonic Temple, when, during ten weeks, before audiences aggregating over two hundred thousand people, he cured more than two thousand men and women, fearlessly atthe course of clinics without the slightest shadow of a single failure. Surely that is a record to look upon with pride, and one that Warren G. Richards, the well-known character artist, has just closed a successful season in New York. He gave entertainments during the Winter before some of the best-known clubs and social organizations in the city, Mr. Richards and a decided hit in "The Old Hoosier and His Fiddle," in which his musical ability was displayed. Mr. Richards is considering a flattering offer from a well-known theatrical manager, who thinks the young mimic would be a strong card in "Here is a letter which I received only support of a widowed mother, work with here was an absolute necessity. Damon Vitapathic Institute:

Dear Sir—

After suffering over seventeen years with an obstinate eccema, which baffled the skill of the very best physiciana, including a number of well-known desmatological specialists of both the city of New York and Brooklyn, I applied as a despairing woman to the Damon Institute, with but feeble expectancy of permanent relief. After a few weeks treatment under the marvellous methods of your experts I now consider myself wholly and radically cured. I feel indeed a verifable new woman, I cannot adequately express my heart's gratitude in words, but shall be happy indeed to let others know of my wonderful recovery, that they may reap the benefits of my experience.

Yours very gratefully.

There isn't a disease that will not succumb to Vital Magnetism as transmitted from the magic hands of Professor Damon and his associates. Along the whole category of human ills, such as catarth, pulmonary complaints, liver and kidney troubles, paralysis, all stomach disturbances, spinal and cerebral disorders, feunial weaknesses of all descriptions, Freumatism in the ill its forms, such as rheumatle gout, inflammatory rheumatism, swelling and inflammation of the joints, deafness and all diseases of the ear and eye, no matter what the trouble may be, Vital Magnetism will prove a blessed boon and a certain cure.

Don't hesitate if you are ill or if you know of any one who is, for Vital Magnetism at the
